

Cross-McCook Wedding Held In Tuxedo Park

Ceremony Performed at the Home of C. B. Alexander: Special Train Carries the Guests From New York

Caramai Carroll Engaged

Will Become J. T. J. Mali's Bride; Kathryn Jackson and Capt. Fahys Married

Miss Martha McCook, daughter of Mrs. John J. McCook, was married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Eliot Cross, of this city, son of Mrs. R. James Cross, 405 Park Avenue, at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, in Tuxedo Park. A special train for the accommodation of the New York guests left Jersey City at 2:30 o'clock, returning immediately after the reception. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Alexander, had only one attendant, her little niece, Emily Kane Jay, daughter of Peter Augustus Jay, former secretary of the American Embassy at Rome and now Minister to Salvador. And Mrs. Jay, who was Miss Susan A. McCook. John Cross served as his brother's best man. There were no ushers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, of Pittsburgh, an uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Cross is a member of the famous "Fighting McCooks," her father having been the late Colonel John J. McCook. During the war she was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in France. Her sister, Miss Harriet McCook, was married to Jackson H. Boyd, of Harrisburg, Pa., April 20 of this year at the city home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, 4 West Fifty-eighth Street.

Mr. Cross is a graduate of Harvard, class '06, and is a member of the Knickerbocker, Racquet and Tennis and other clubs.

One of the most interesting engagements announced this month is that of Miss Caramai Carroll, daughter of Mr. Howard Carroll and the late General Carroll, of Carrollville, Tarrytown, and 11 East Eighty-sixth Street, this city, to J. T. J. Mali, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Mali, of 8 Fifth Avenue, and Plainfield, N. J. Mrs. Carroll made formal announcement of the engagement yesterday at her country place at Tarrytown. Miss Carroll is one of the most popular members of the younger social set in New York, and since her debut a few years ago has been active in charitable and war work. She is among the most active members of the Junior League, and always figures in some capacity in the annual entertainments given by that exclusive organization.

Mr. Mali was graduated from Yale in 1915 and served two years as an officer in the A. E. F. in France. He is a brother of Miss Gertrude Mali and Henry J. Mali.

The wedding will take place Saturday, October 16, at Carrollville, Tarrytown.

Mr. and Mrs. James Varnum Graham, of Flushing, L. I., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edith Lane Graham, to George Dexter Bradford, of New York. Miss Graham attended Miss Chapin's School in New York. Mr. Bradford is at present with his mother, Mrs. Kingsland Bradford, at Lenox, Mass.

Miss Kathryn Louise Jackson, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Jackson, of Brookville, L. I., became the bride of Captain George Ernest Fahys Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Fahys, of New York, yesterday in the Oyster Bay Reformed Church, Brookville, L. I. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Edwin Lloyd, pastor of the church, acted as celebrant. Father Martin Drury and Father Aloysius McGovern assisted. So great was the crowd that a special detail of forty-eight policemen was on hand. Their services, however, were not required.

Floral tributes from neighbors and friends as well as from strangers filled four auto trucks, while the church was banked with lilies.

As was a delegation from the Police Department, including Commissioners Gray and Faurel.

Under escort of two squadrons of cavalry from Fort Myer, Dr. Porras rode to the New Willard Hotel in President Wilson's automobile. The Marine Band played the Panamanian national air as he entered the car at the station.

Secretary Colby officially called upon Dr. Porras at the hotel later in the afternoon, and the Porras officially returned the visit by calling at the State Department for a few minutes a short time later.

Mrs. Newton D. Baker, wife of Secretary of War, called on Dr. Porras at the Baker home, Beaumont, Woodley Lane, at 5 o'clock, and, according to the Panamanian official, the President-elect at a banquet at the Pan-American Union.

To-morrow Dr. Porras will be the guest of Acting Secretary of War Williams at the Army and Navy Club. The President-elect and his party will be taken to Mount Vernon on the President's yacht, the Mayflower, in the afternoon as the guests of Secretary Daniels. They will return to New York to-morrow night.

Among the 725 passengers who departed for Cherbourg and Southampton aboard the White Star liner Adriatic yesterday were Mrs. Maudie Sembrich, of New York, and her husband, Commander H. L. Pence, U. S. N.; Mrs. Cyril Mortimer, of Tuxedo, and Robert Grant, of Boston.

Five years after his marriage he met Mrs. Blotner at a reception. The girl 'friend' who had been the means of separating them, was there also. Remorse prompted her to confess that she had written the letter because of jealousy.

The bride of yesterday was a queen of yellow-bellied, Russian race. She was attended to by her sister, Mrs. Fisher, who is twenty-three years old. Mr. Teller's best man was his brother, George A. Teller, twenty-seven years old. Twenty old friends of the couple were the guests of the wedding. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Whiting Davis, of the Church of the Transfiguration.

The couple will spend their honeymoon visiting the entire tour of the bride, Milford, Conn. They will make their home in Montvale, Bergen County, N. J., where Mr. Teller has a large stock farm.

Thousands Attend Funerals of Auto Accident Victims

Services Held for 7 Killed When Dr. McGuire's Car Plunged Over Cliff at Dobb's Ferry in Storm

Impressive ceremonies marked the burial yesterday of the seven persons who met death early Sunday morning when, amid driving torrents of rain, an automobile in which they were riding pitched over a cliff at Dobb's Ferry. The victims were Dr. George H. McGuire, fifty-eight years old, of 2519 Creston Avenue, the Bronx; his wife, Florence; his eldest son, George H. McGuire, and his daughter, Mary J. McGuire, as well as a sister and brother-in-law, Mr. John J. Hawley, and a chum of his son's, Edward Mulrooney.

Dr. McGuire's youngest son, Francis Mayne, twelve years old, the only surviving member of the family, is still unconscious in the Dobb's Ferry Hospital.

While thousands of persons stood silent along the curb, six hearses, driven two abreast, proceeded from the home of Dr. McGuire and made their way to the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, at Marion Avenue and Fordham Roadway. There a requiem mass was held at 11:30. The Rev. P. N. Breslin, pastor of the church, acted as celebrant. Father Martin Drury and Father Aloysius McGovern assisted.

So great was the crowd that a special detail of forty-eight policemen was on hand. Their services, however, were not required.

The Tribune Fresh Air Fund

The "Fresh Airs" Have Danced, the Piper Waits To Be Paid

The Tribune Fresh Air Fund still needs $2,289.78 to clear up the bills for its season's work.

The "Fresh Airs" have danced; the Piper now demands his pay.

The bill for the Fresh Airs' Piper is a heavy one. To pay him in full for what he has done during the summer of 1920 will cost more than $80,000.

But making "Fresh Airs" dance requires more than music. Before they can be allowed to dance they must be transported to a safe place. To set them dancing in their native tenement streets would bring many of them to death beneath the juggernaut wheels of motor trucks, dashing motor cars and clanging trolleys.

So the Piper leads them out to the safe green hillsides, the cool sylvan shades, the smiling meadows, where there are no hidden dangers lurk.

Even when he gets them there it isn't time for dancing yet. Laggard, listless children cannot dance. Jazzing to the Fresh Airs' melodies does them little life, buoyancy, spirit, pep, if, if home of Dr. McGuire and made their way to the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, at Marion Avenue and Fordham Roadway.

Mortimer Delano Dies; Noted as Genealogist

Descendant of First Huguenots and Authority on Anti-Aircraft Defense

Mortimer Delano, a descendant of the first Huguenots to come to this country, died Tuesday at a hospital here after a short illness. He was fifty-one years old. Until recently he had lived in the old Lloyd Jones mansion at Massapequa, L. I.

Mr. Delano was an acknowledged authority on heraldry and genealogy, having compiled a history of his family, which was descended from the de Lannoys. He was a keen student of aviation and was the author of a treatise on anti-aircraft defense of New York. For a number of years he served on the Committee of Historical Documents of the Society of Colonial Wars and was a member of the Huguenot Society, the Society of the War of 1812 and the Veteran Corps of Artillery.

Mr. Delano married Miss Wilhelmina Pierson, a descendant of one of the first presidents of Yale University. Their daughter, Priscilla Alden Delano, was born in 1891. The Delanos lived in this city for many years at 104 West 120th Street. They had a summer home in Garden City, L. I.

HENRY BOYD VAUGHN, one of the directors of the Corn Exchange Bank in this city, died yesterday in his home, 48 Reynolds Terrace, Orange, N. J. He was seventy-eight years old.

Mr. Vaughn was born in Philadelphia. Shortly after the Civil War he became engaged in the leather business. He formerly was a member of the Stock Exchange, was one of the organizers of the United States Leather Company of New York and for a time was partner with his son, in Vaughn & Co., brokers, at 22 Broadway. He is survived by his wife, two daughters and a son.

COLONEL CHARLES W. PENROSE, LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 15.—Colonel Charles W. Penrose, a retired army officer and cousin of United States Senator Penrose, died here today.

Colonel Penrose, who was sixty-two years old, entered the army in 1884.

DAVID STURGES, GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 15.—David Sturges, known far and wide as "Doc Dave," for many years guide to thousands of hunting trips in the Adirondacks, but for several years past proprietor of a hotel, died at his home in Speculator this afternoon. He was eighty-nine years old and was the last of the old-time guides in this section.

MRS. CLARA J. GRENEKER, wife of Claude P. Greneker, publicity representative for the Shuberts, died early this morning at his home, 225 West Fifty-fifth Street. She had been suffering for more than a week from a heart attack.

Before her marriage Mrs. Greneker had been on the stage.

WILBUR P. GRAFF, BLAIRSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 15.—Wilbur P. Graff, State Senator from the 37th District and a trustee of Allegheny College, Meadville, died today at his home here. He had been ill for several months. He was fifty-two years old.
